

PUBLIC MEETINGS ON FISHING

You can make a difference,
so come
talk story!

Hawai'i small-boat fisheries, including those that catch federally managed species such as 'ahi, Deep 7, uku, Kona crab, mahimahi and ono, are important to the culture and livelihood of Hawai'i.

The Council, NOAA Fisheries and State of Hawai'i are conducting a series of meetings to hear from the public on potential issues in the fisheries including data collection, closed areas and quotas.

All meetings are in-person only and will include an open-house format with informational booths from federal, state and fishing organizations.
