

E ulu lā'au, hānai kaiāulu: Grow trees, sustain community

Community forests are the trees in the wao kanaka, where we live learn and play. They give us gathering places, shade to cool down, air to breathe, food to eat, wood for carving, leaves for weaving, and flowers for lei. Learn more at dlnr.hawaii.gov/trees.
