Subject: [EXTERNAL] Honolulu Bay yacht fine not enough!

The 1.8 million dollar fine for the yacht owners who grounded their yacht in Honolulu Bay is not enough. It should be doubled or tripled at least for their terrible behavior! They were negligent, arrogant and downright disrespectful. They disregarded basically maritime safety procedures and should pay heavily. The impact of their negligence will be felt by generations to come. The fuel spilled killed the marine life and boat destroyed the reef. They should be made an example of so this never happens ago! 1.8 million is not enough!

Aloha Board,

Please deny the appeal and require the yacht owner to pay the $1.8 million in damages & desecration. The negligence and irresponsibility has created enough harm for generations by the literal damages, this appeal, and any continued effort to avoid accountability. Please deny this appeal.

Subject: [EXTERNAL] Honolua Bay- $1.8 Million Dollar Fine

Aloha,

I am writing in support of fining the owner of the boat that was stuck on the reef for multiple days last year at Honolua Bay. It's important they are held accountable and that the precedent remains high.

We need to take care of our reefs and water ways and we need hold with conviction how serious we are about their protection.

Mahalo,
Noel
